ATLAS DE LOCALIDADES PESQUERAS EN MÉXICO

Cartografía de semidetalle de costas e islas de México para la localización de sitios de captura y desembarque de la flota menor (pesquerías artesanales)

En México, como en cualquier otro país en que se desarrollan pesquerías, es necesario contar con medidas administrativas que promuevan la explotación sustentable de los recursos en el marco de la pesca responsable. La instrumentación de esas medidas se debe realizar considerando las diferentes fuentes de información involucradas en el complejo sistema bio-tecno-socioeconómico que forman las pesquerías (Kesteven, 1973).

En este sentido, el análisis de estadísticas pesqueras básicas, como la captura y el esfuerzo de pesca, constituyen los pilares de la evaluación de pesquerías y en los últimos años se ha reconocido que no sólo es importante saber cuánto y cuándo, sino también determinar dónde y cómo (Hilborn y Walters, 1992). Esa información es necesaria para conocer la dinámica de los recursos y de la flota y constituye la base para la instrumentación de modelos matemáticos que permitan evaluar efectos de la pesca sobre recursos específicos y sobre las comunidades marinas (Pauly et al., 2000). Además, es indispensable para el desarrollo de sistemas geográficos de información, herramienta para analizar aspectos demográficos de la comunidad, cuya aplicación se está generalizando en el campo de las ciencias marinas (Bauman, 2003; Sinclair, 2003).

En México la recolección de estadísticas pesqueras se efectúa a través del sistema integral de registro de información pesquera de la Comisión Nacional de Pesca. Los pescadores registran información sobre su actividad en las oficinas de pesca de la Secretaría de Agricultura, Ganadería, Desarrollo Rural, Pesca y Alimentación (SAGARPA), en formatos conocidos como “avisos de arribo”. La información, además de la fecha y lugar en que se efectúa el registro, comprende lo relacionado con la captura por especie o grupo de especies, por lugar de pesca y desembarco, y es la base de los anuarios estadísticos de pesca y de los informes técnicos en que se apoyan las autoridades pesqueras para la toma de decisiones.

Sin embargo, el uso de la información es parcial en lo relacionado con la definición de áreas de pesca y unidades funcionales de manejo, especialmente en el campo de las pesquerías artesanales o de pequeña escala, donde los “avisos de arribo” constituyen en la mayoría de los casos la única fuente de información. En pesquerías industriales, como las de atún, sardina o camarón de alta mar, además de los “avisos de arribo”, se utilizan bitácoras de pesca y en algunos casos, programas de técnicos científicos observadores a bordo.

Los problemas de la recolección de estadísticas oficiales de producción pesquera comprenden desde la definición de variables a considerar hasta la capacitación de los primeros involucrados en el sistema: pescadores y oficinistas. Los problemas relacionados con los procedimientos seguidos por los productores, al momento de efectuar los registros, y por las autoridades, al no disponer de sistemas eficientes para supervisar la credibilidad de la información registrada, incrementan la incertidumbre asociada a valores estimados a partir de los “avisos de arribo”. En este sentido hace falta generar material didáctico y de apoyo a la recolección de estadísticas pesqueras, además de sistemas eficientes de manejo de la información, tareas en las que se han involucrado el Centro Interdisciplinario de Ciencias Marinas del Instituto Politécnico Nacional (CICIMAR – IPN) y la Comisión Nacional de Pesca y Acuacultura (CONAPESCA).

Entre los datos básicos que se anotan en los “avisos de arribo” se encuentran los nombres de las localidades donde se efectuó la captura y donde se realizó el desembarque del producto. Para los fines de ordenamiento y análisis, las localidades a que se refieren los pescadores deben aparecer en las listas de lugares de pesca y desembarco elaboradas por la CONAPESCA para cada Estado. Sin embargo, no existe un documento que permita a los usuarios determinar la localización de esos lugares y evitar errores por desconocimiento o uso incorrecto de nombres y sinónimos o de nombres.

Por otra parte, los códigos o claves para identificar las localidades pueden seguir o no un orden según la posición geográfica, lo que no permite en todos los casos la extracción de información relativa a una región o área de pesca determinada. Reconociendo estos problemas se planificó el proyecto para elaborar el “Atlas de localidades pesqueras en México”, documento que en forma de libros por Estado o región de México, permite localizar los lugares de pesca y desembarco determinado por la CONAPESCA, incluyendo las claves de cada lugar para facilitar su uso por los oficinistas de pesca.

La base de datos fue complementada con información sobre latitud y longitud geográfica para cada lugar de pesca o desembarco registrado en los “avisos de arribo” y con la posición de otros lugares de interés geográfico (puntas, bajos, ensenadas) que sirven de guía al usuario y que pudieran ser considerados en las listas oficiales. Los lugares incluidos en el cada libro del Atlas fueron ordenados de acuerdo a su posición geográfica y se identificaron con un número progresivo o clave SIMAVI, acrónimo utilizado para el Sistema Automatizado para el Manejo de Avisos de Arribo, programa para microcomputadora que elaboró el CICIMAR-IPN (Ramírez-Rodríguez y Hernández Herrera, 1999).

Para lo anterior se utilizaron cartas y mapas editados por la Secretaría de Marina, la Secretaría de Comunicaciones y Transporte, el Instituto Nacional de Estadística, Geografía e Informática (INEGI), el Instituto Nacional de Geografía de la Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, almanaques topográficos de Baja California y Baja California Sur (Baja Almanac Publishing), y cartas de pesca para la península de Baja California y norte del Golfo de California (Fish n map Co). Las bases cartográficas se integraron en un sistema de información geográfico utilizando el programa Mapinfo 7.5.

Cada libro del Atlas contiene una serie de mapas organizados de norte a sur y de oeste a este según la región que se trate, incluyendo el litoral, islas y cuerpos interiores. Para facilitar el uso se incluye un mapa guía en que aparecen las subdivisiones o recuadros. Al pie de cada mapa se presenta en una tabla el listado de nombres de las localidades pesqueras, con sus correspondientes claves SIMAVI, y CONAPESCA para lugar de pesca o desembarco. En cada libro se incluye un índice de nombres de localidades pesqueras ordenadas por la clave SIMAVI y otro en que se ordenan alfabéticamente y se incluyen las coordenadas de la posición geográfica de cada sitio y el número de mapa en que se encuentran.
